Service Learning

A total of 60 hours of Service Learning is required to graduate from Roosevelt High School. Students are encouraged to go beyond the minimum.

- A. All RHS teachers will include on their syllabi the service learning graduation requirement – “A total of 60 hours of Service Learning is required to graduate from Roosevelt High School. See your History teacher, counselor and Career Center Specialist for more information and resources.” Each teacher will also discuss options relevant to their specific course.
- B. Social Studies teachers will provide their students with a copy of the “Service Learning Agreement” at the beginning of each semester.
- C. Social Studies teachers will remind their students to turn in completed agreements to the Counseling Office at the quarter and semester.
- D. Counselors will track Service Learning Hours.
- E. Once 60 hours are completed, the counselor will log “Service Learning Complete” on the student’s Academic History.

Service Learning can be done anytime from the summer preceding ninth grade through graduation. Students are encouraged to complete the 60 hours early in their high school experience, realizing that colleges and future employers respect service learning and that it is a valuable way to put themselves into situations where they can explore potential careers.

Service Learning may include any experience where students do not receive pay or credit. Students are encouraged to look for experiences where there are connections with their coursework and interests.

Counselors and the Career Center Specialist can assist with any questions.
